

TO DOWN THE REDS.

United Movement of the European Powers Now Certain.

French Government to Take the Lead in Drastic Measures.

Valliant Still Boasts Defiantly of His Exploit on Saturday.

(By Associated Press.)
PARIS, Dec. 11.—The excitement caused by the explosion of the saucisson bomb in the Chamber of Deputies on Saturday afternoon has far from subsided, and everybody is looking forward to this day's session of the Chamber, when most important matters affecting Anarchists will, it is expected, be brought forward.

If press utterances here indicate the real current of opinion, the explosion of the bomb thrown by Valliant, the Anarchist, is likely to greatly strengthen the hands of the Government and to bring about joint action with England, Spain, Italy and Austria at least, and probably Germany, for a combined movement looking to the suppression of Anarchy by the extradition and severe punishment of all who are proved to have engaged in Anarchistic conspiracies.

During this morning Valliant was transferred from the Hotel Dieu to the infirmary of the Prison de la Santé. A large crowd was gathered outside the Hotel Dieu in anticipation of the removal of the bomb-thrower, and when he was brought out of the hospital the crowd shouted: "Death to the Anarchist!" "Hang him to a lamp-post!"

The police pushed back the crowd and Valliant was taken to the prison in safety. No arrests of Anarchists have been made to-day.

Valliant continues to glory in his dastardly deed, and only seems to regret that he did not succeed in killing or severely wounding M. Casimir-Perier, the Premier, and M. Dupuy, the President of the Chamber of Deputies. He still insists that he had no accomplices. Valliant, when taken to the Hotel Dieu, gave the name of Marchal, as already cabled by the Associated Press and it was only after the detectives had worked up his record, and after he was subjected to a short, sharp examination by the Public Prosecutor and Examining Magistrate, that he admitted his name that Valliant.

He took the name of Marchal, mainly to disguise himself and on account of the fact that he was living with a married woman named Marchal, after his wife had been stolen from her husband. His own wife he deserted in America.

Marchal, the husband of Valliant's mistress, in an interview to-day, said that Valliant returned from America in January last and became a boarder in the Marchal household.

Valliant, in inducing Mme. Marchal to sell and pledge the furniture belonging to her husband, and after he had succeeded in bringing about a complete rupture between husband and wife, he made the woman work from morning till night in order to supply his wants. He made her do the most terrible manner when she was unable to give him money.

The police, it was announced this morning, during the investigation made into the explosion of Saturday, searched the apartment occupied by a man named Cohen, a Dutch Anarchist, and there found a number of copper tubes, which, it is said, were to be used in the manufacture of explosive bombs. The police also seized a bundle of documents of the utmost importance, as well as nearly 1,000 letters from Anarchists in all parts of Germany.

A despatch from Rome says that a resolution congratulating the French Deputies on their escape was introduced in the Chamber there to-day.

A despatch from Buda Pesth says that Deputy Ugron, in the Unterhaus, to-day, on behalf of the Extreme Left, expressed sympathy with the French Chamber of Deputies, saying that the Parliament would not be coerced by a handful of criminals.

At a Cabinet Council held this Monday, afternoon bills were agreed upon to be submitted to the Chambers to-day, providing for the repression of Anarchy. Casimir-Perier, Premier, said the new measures to-day. He dwelt upon the necessity of passing them, saying they would not encroach upon free liberty. His remarks were greeted with prolonged cheering.

The first of these bills makes it a penal offense to publish incitements to commit outrages by the use of explosives.

The second bill regulates the manufacture and possession of explosives. The third bill extends the jurisdiction of the police for the repression of Anarchistic agitation, and for preventing Anarchist outrages.

The fourth bill provides for police supervision of Anarchist societies.

An "Evening World" reporter went over to Blackfriars Island this morning to ascertain if Emma Goldman, queen of the New York Reds, now serving a sentence for inciting to Anarchism, knew anything about the Anarchist plot.

Warden Pillsbury declined to permit the reporter to see Miss Goldman, but allowed a note to be sent to her. She had not extended her hand in throwing in the Paris Chamber of Deputies, and without knowing why she was questioned, replied to the note that she knew of Valliant as a writer of Anarchistic literature, and while she had often heard of him, had never seen him.

Neither did she know that he had ever visited this country, as reported. John Most, the Paris Anarchist, was not in town to-day, and none of the men in the Prison office knew anything about Valliant.

WHO OWNS THE BLANKET?
"Blanket-Flood" Murray Had It and Was Arrested.

John Murray, a bricklayer by trade, who is known to the police as the "blanket-flood," was in the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning to give the police a chance to find an owner for the valuable blanket marked "A. M." found in the possession of the arrested by Policeman Repper, of the Tenderloin Precinct, at about 1 o'clock this morning at Broadway and Twenty-ninth street.

He claimed he had found it lying on the sidewalk, but his story is not believed. It is said that he has made a specialty of stealing blankets for fifteen years.

Heinepaul Canal Murky Dead.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Jeremiah Murphy, member of Congress from Iowa, died here this morning from dropsy. He was born in Lowell, Mass. He served in the Forty-ninth and Forty-seventh Congresses, and was well known throughout the country as "Heinepaul" Murphy for his championship of the Mississippi Canal project.

JOHN I.'S TRAPS, DAVE.

Davenport's Papers and Records Thrown Out of His Old Rooms.

His Eviction from the Federal Building Now Complete.

Postmaster Dayton Doesn't Know What to Do with the "Cage."

An air of desolation hung over Rooms 174, 175 and 176, on the fifth floor of the Post-office Building, this morning. It was there that the great and only John I. Davenport held forth, but he will do so no longer. The eviction is now in progress and every article, every scrap of record that might serve to defend any one of Davenport's men, will, before the day is over, have been shovelled out, as it were, and an army of washerwomen set at work to gather up even the dust of departed greatness.

Postmaster Dayton himself superintended the work of eviction. Several days ago he notified "John I." that everything must be cleaned out, and that the work would begin at 11 o'clock sharp. Davenport said he would be there himself to take one last look as it were, but somehow he did not materialize on time. The Postmaster waited until 11:15 o'clock, and then he instructed Assistant Custodian Michael Flaherty to go ahead.

Soon all the reserve force of the custodian's office was at work. Desks were turned upside down, files of papers were bundled up, packed upon trucks and wheeled to the elevator, which finally took them up to the roof.

Sacred records, which with a proper key might unfold the hidden stories of the ways that were dark, were fumbled out of cases and irreverently bundled in with the rest. Checks bearing Davenport's autograph and the names of his men as far back as 1872 were scattered with empty ink bottles, old newspapers, blank books and like. Whether valuable or not, Mr. Davenport alone knows. They certainly were not treated as such by the men who handled them this morning.

Davenport had spent nearly all of Friday and Saturday in the rooms preparing for the eviction. Anything of real value, it is expected, he took away with him.

Besides doing so, he made up about forty large parcels and sealed them. He also mailed up the records and papers, and filled to the top with documents said to be of the utmost importance to him. These boxes and parcels were fumbled around this morning, and on all of them was printed the following:

PERSONAL.
J. I. D.

Some of the irreverent ones thought it was the initials for John I. Davenport, the initials for John I. Davenport, the initials for John I. Davenport.

Postmaster Dayton had a room in the dome specially prepared for the reception of Mr. Davenport's papers, and there he had his own truckmen to remove them. Mr. Davenport claims several books, books filled with notes, and a large number of papers, and a large number of papers, and a large number of papers.

What to do with the "cage" which Davenport had used for the incarceration of prisoners during the Postmaster's term, is empty now, and probably will be closed up for good.

After the Postmaster's term, the office of the Chief Supervisor of the Department, Davenport's late quarters will be used by the Postmaster for his own office.

The "cage," he said, "decided that we should have a place to keep our records, and I have decided to keep them here to-day. He has made a demand for these bookcases and I will renew it."

He said that he would not see what we can do about it. When the time comes for Mr. Davenport to take office he will do so.

ASSAULTED HIS FATHER.

An Undutiful Son Sentenced to the Island.

Thomas Hoy, seventeen years old, was sent to the island for one month by Justice Koch in the Jefferson Market Police Court to-day.

He struck his father, Matthew Hoy, a laborer, living at 130 Charlton street, with his fist, when the father was talking about the neighborhood at night.

He is a half boy for his age, and his father is no match for him physically. Hoy cut his father's head and back, and in the evening was taken to the Mercer street station, arrested him.

Hurt by a Premature Blast.

Domenico Sita, an Italian laborer, who lives at 43 Morris avenue, was injured this morning by a premature blast at One Hundred and Fifty-seventh street and Fifth avenue.

He was working on the roof of the Mercer street station, arrested him.

Popular Preacher

1,000'S Rallies the Vital Forces and Gives Strength to Work.

Everybody connected with the case of Nicolaus versus Gould maintains a discreet silence to-day. At Mr. Gould's office it was said that there were no further developments in the matter. Mr. Gould, it was said, was in Lakewood, and would not come to the city until late in the day.

Lawyer Abe Hummel said at his office this forenoon that there was nothing to say until Mr. Gould's lawyers made some answer to the complaint of the fair Zella.

A despatch from Philadelphia states that a woman who answers in every particular to the description printed of Mrs. Nicolaus obtained $30 from Publisher George W. Childs some time ago with which to go West. The story she told Mr. Childs was much like that she told Mr. Gould, when, as he admits, he helped the young woman financially in a number of ways.

Lawyer Abe Hummel was closeted with Supt. Byrnes this morning for half an hour. The Superintendent of the Jail, it is said, was in the Jefferson Market Police Court to-day.

CAPTAINS CALL ON BYRNES.

The Superintendent Gives Them Secret Instructions.

Supt. Byrnes had all the precinct commanders before him at Police Headquarters this morning.

The conference lasted about three-quarters of an hour.

The Superintendent afterwards said he had been giving the captains instructions in regard to a certain order, but at present he was not at liberty to discuss the nature of the order.

Mrs. Weidner Goes Free.

Mrs. Henrietta Weidner, forty-nine years old, of 258 West Forty-sixth street, New York, was acquitted by Justice Tighe this morning, in the Butcher Street Police Court, Brooklyn, of the charge of attempting suicide.

She shot herself on her son's grave in Greenwood on Nov. 18, last, while waiting for her brother, Henry, to be buried. Her brother, Henry, was buried in the same grave in Greenwood on Nov. 18, last, while waiting for her brother, Henry, to be buried.

HOOD'S PILLER sick headache, biliousness and all liver ills. 25 cents per box.

O'NEILL'S

6th Ave., 20th to 21st St.

10,000 YARDS

"Listers" Fast Dye

Runjum Silks,

59c.

Worth 85c. yard.

70 Newest Shades for

Evening Wear and Fancy

Work Recommended for

Good Wear, High Lustre and

Fast to Sunlight Dye.

OPEN EVENINGS UNTIL CHRISTMAS.

H. O'NEILL & CO.,

6th Ave., 20th to 21st St.

EDGAR M. JOHNSON IS DEAD.

Member of the Law Firm of Headly, Lauterbach & Johnson.

Well Known Here and in Ohio

Political Circles.

Edgar M. Johnson, of the law firm of Headly, Lauterbach & Johnson, died at his home in the Knickerbocker Hotel, Twenty-eighth street and Fifth avenue, at 11:30 o'clock last night. He had been sick a week with the grip.

Mr. Johnson was born in November, 1838, at Cincinnati, O. He was the youngest of a large family, all members of which but one, his eldest sister, Mrs. Abraham, are dead.

He was educated in the common schools and was graduated from the High School at Cincinnati, after which he was admitted to the Bar at the early age of seventeen years. He formed a partnership with his school friend, Col. John P. Jackson, now United States Treasurer at San Francisco.

In 1859 he was elected Prosecuting Attorney of the Police Court of Cincinnati, on a fusion or union ticket, which bore the name of men since governors of Ohio, Gov. Bishop, elected Mayor, and Gov. Hoadly, elected Judge of the Superior Court of Cincinnati, in 1868, after losing to a later date, Chief Justice of the Superior Court of New Mexico.

Mr. Johnson served out his full term of office, two years, and almost immediately retired to his home in Cincinnati, where he was joined by Judge Headly, who resigned his office as Judge of the Police Court of Cincinnati, for the purpose of becoming senior partner.

This partnership this firm with Judge Headly, continued until the death of the latter in 1887, when the two partners removed to New York to become members of the firm of Headly, Lauterbach & Johnson.

In 1881 Mr. Johnson was nominated by the Democratic as their candidate for Lieutenant-Governor of Ohio on the ticket headed by John W. Bookwalter, and was defeated.

In private life Mr. Johnson was a very warm-hearted and high-spirited man. He was married in 1862 to Laura Loudon, daughter of Adolf Louis, a merchant of Cincinnati, and they had two sons by their marriage.

The elder, Frederick L. Johnson, lives in Cincinnati, a merchant, married and with a family. The younger, Edgar M. Johnson, Jr., is a student in the office of Headly, Lauterbach & Johnson.

He was arrested as a suspect in the case of Henry S. Ives, when the latter was first arraigned in the Tombs Police Court.

HUMMEL CALLS ON BYRNES.

But All Connected with the Gould-Nicolaus Case Are Silent.

Everybody connected with the case of Nicolaus versus Gould maintains a discreet silence to-day. At Mr. Gould's office it was said that there were no further developments in the matter. Mr. Gould, it was said, was in Lakewood, and would not come to the city until late in the day.

Lawyer Abe Hummel said at his office this forenoon that there was nothing to say until Mr. Gould's lawyers made some answer to the complaint of the fair Zella.

A despatch from Philadelphia states that a woman who answers in every particular to the description printed of Mrs. Nicolaus obtained $30 from Publisher George W. Childs some time ago with which to go West. The story she told Mr. Childs was much like that she told Mr. Gould, when, as he admits, he helped the young woman financially in a number of ways.

Lawyer Abe Hummel was closeted with Supt. Byrnes this morning for half an hour. The Superintendent of the Jail, it is said, was in the Jefferson Market Police Court to-day.

CAPTAINS CALL ON BYRNES.

The Superintendent Gives Them Secret Instructions.

Supt. Byrnes had all the precinct commanders before him at Police Headquarters this morning.

The conference lasted about three-quarters of an hour.

The Superintendent afterwards said he had been giving the captains instructions in regard to a certain order, but at present he was not at liberty to discuss the nature of the order.

Mrs. Weidner Goes Free.

Mrs. Henrietta Weidner, forty-nine years old, of 258 West Forty-sixth street, New York, was acquitted by Justice Tighe this morning, in the Butcher Street Police Court, Brooklyn, of the charge of attempting suicide.

She shot herself on her son's grave in Greenwood on Nov. 18, last, while waiting for her brother, Henry, to be buried. Her brother, Henry, was buried in the same grave in Greenwood on Nov. 18, last, while waiting for her brother, Henry, to be buried.

HOOD'S PILLER sick headache, biliousness and all liver ills. 25 cents per box.

HOOD'S PILLER sick headache, biliousness and all liver ills. 25 cents per box.

HOOD'S PILLER sick headache, biliousness and all liver ills. 25 cents per box.

HOOD'S PILLER sick headache, biliousness and all liver ills. 25 cents per box.

HOOD'S PILLER sick headache, biliousness and all liver ills. 25 cents per box.

HOOD'S PILLER sick headache, biliousness and all liver ills. 25 cents per box.

HOOD'S PILLER sick headache, biliousness and all liver ills. 25 cents per box.

HOOD'S PILLER sick headache, biliousness and all liver ills. 25 cents per box.

HOOD'S PILLER sick headache, biliousness and all liver ills. 25 cents per box.

HOOD'S PILLER sick headache, biliousness and all liver ills. 25 cents per box.

HOOD'S PILLER sick headache, biliousness and all liver ills. 25 cents per box.

B. Altman &amp; Co

Will Sell to-morrow

MEN'S BRETTE'S SILK

UNDERWEAR.

Also, LOUNGING ROBES

and BATH ROBES, greatly

below former prices.

Help Wanted—Male.

WANTED—MAN COOK.

DIED.

SQUIRE, of softening of the brain, NEWTON SQUIRE, eldest son of the late Lewis L. and Susan L. Squire.

Funeral private.

JOHNSON, suddenly, at his residence, Sunday, Dec. 10, 1893, in his 58th year, EDGAR M. JOHNSON.

Interment at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati and Washington papers please copy.

MYSTERY ABOUT THIS BLAZE.

One Fire Quickly Followed by Another in New Rochelle.

Four Buildings in Flames and $14,000 Damage Done.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Dec. 11.—As a policeman was passing L. Steger's clothing store, on Main street, this village, about 11:30 o'clock last night, he found the store filled with smoke. A dim light came from the windows, and he was obliged to turn back.

Steger's residence near by, and the policeman went to his house and informed him that the store was on fire. They returned and put out the fire. The fire was supposed to have originated from an overheated stove.

About half an hour later, when the policeman passed the store again, he found the inside in a blaze. He quickly turned in an alarm, and the Fire Department responded. A strong wind was blowing, and in spite of the efforts of the firemen, the flames spread to the surrounding property.

Steger's store was in the center of the business section of the village. The building adjoining, used as a grocery and food store by H. Lampden, caught fire, and the flames spread to the building next to it, which was a large brick building, used as a warehouse.

The fire on the east side of the Steger's building consumed a large portion of the building owned by Mrs. Dortha Daniel. The upper floors were used as a dwelling, while the ground floor was divided into two rooms, one as a barber-shop, kept by Mrs. Dunkle's husband, and the other as a store, kept by William E. Martin, a paper-hanger. The latter carried a valuable stock of paper, including some of the finest of the world's fair.

The Steger building was owned by Samuel Burnside. His loss is about $5,000, which is fully insured. Steger's loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured. The Daniel building was owned by Mrs. Daniel, and the loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured.

The fire on the east side of the Steger's building consumed a large portion of the building owned by Mrs. Dortha Daniel. The upper floors were used as a dwelling, while the ground floor was divided into two rooms, one as a barber-shop, kept by Mrs. Dunkle's husband, and the other as a store, kept by William E. Martin, a paper-hanger. The latter carried a valuable stock of paper, including some of the finest of the world's fair.

The Steger building was owned by Samuel Burnside. His loss is about $5,000, which is fully insured. Steger's loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured. The Daniel building was owned by Mrs. Daniel, and the loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured.

The fire on the east side of the Steger's building consumed a large portion of the building owned by Mrs. Dortha Daniel. The upper floors were used as a dwelling, while the ground floor was divided into two rooms, one as a barber-shop, kept by Mrs. Dunkle's husband, and the other as a store, kept by William E. Martin, a paper-hanger. The latter carried a valuable stock of paper, including some of the finest of the world's fair.

The Steger building was owned by Samuel Burnside. His loss is about $5,000, which is fully insured. Steger's loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured. The Daniel building was owned by Mrs. Daniel, and the loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured.

The fire on the east side of the Steger's building consumed a large portion of the building owned by Mrs. Dortha Daniel. The upper floors were used as a dwelling, while the ground floor was divided into two rooms, one as a barber-shop, kept by Mrs. Dunkle's husband, and the other as a store, kept by William E. Martin, a paper-hanger. The latter carried a valuable stock of paper, including some of the finest of the world's fair.

The Steger building was owned by Samuel Burnside. His loss is about $5,000, which is fully insured. Steger's loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured. The Daniel building was owned by Mrs. Daniel, and the loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured.

The fire on the east side of the Steger's building consumed a large portion of the building owned by Mrs. Dortha Daniel. The upper floors were used as a dwelling, while the ground floor was divided into two rooms, one as a barber-shop, kept by Mrs. Dunkle's husband, and the other as a store, kept by William E. Martin, a paper-hanger. The latter carried a valuable stock of paper, including some of the finest of the world's fair.

The Steger building was owned by Samuel Burnside. His loss is about $5,000, which is fully insured. Steger's loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured. The Daniel building was owned by Mrs. Daniel, and the loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured.

The fire on the east side of the Steger's building consumed a large portion of the building owned by Mrs. Dortha Daniel. The upper floors were used as a dwelling, while the ground floor was divided into two rooms, one as a barber-shop, kept by Mrs. Dunkle's husband, and the other as a store, kept by William E. Martin, a paper-hanger. The latter carried a valuable stock of paper, including some of the finest of the world's fair.

The Steger building was owned by Samuel Burnside. His loss is about $5,000, which is fully insured. Steger's loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured. The Daniel building was owned by Mrs. Daniel, and the loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured.

The fire on the east side of the Steger's building consumed a large portion of the building owned by Mrs. Dortha Daniel. The upper floors were used as a dwelling, while the ground floor was divided into two rooms, one as a barber-shop, kept by Mrs. Dunkle's husband, and the other as a store, kept by William E. Martin, a paper-hanger. The latter carried a valuable stock of paper, including some of the finest of the world's fair.

The Steger building was owned by Samuel Burnside. His loss is about $5,000, which is fully insured. Steger's loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured. The Daniel building was owned by Mrs. Daniel, and the loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured.

The fire on the east side of the Steger's building consumed a large portion of the building owned by Mrs. Dortha Daniel. The upper floors were used as a dwelling, while the ground floor was divided into two rooms, one as a barber-shop, kept by Mrs. Dunkle's husband, and the other as a store, kept by William E. Martin, a paper-hanger. The latter carried a valuable stock of paper, including some of the finest of the world's fair.

The Steger building was owned by Samuel Burnside. His loss is about $5,000, which is fully insured. Steger's loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured. The Daniel building was owned by Mrs. Daniel, and the loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured.

The fire on the east side of the Steger's building consumed a large portion of the building owned by Mrs. Dortha Daniel. The upper floors were used as a dwelling, while the ground floor was divided into two rooms, one as a barber-shop, kept by Mrs. Dunkle's husband, and the other as a store, kept by William E. Martin, a paper-hanger. The latter carried a valuable stock of paper, including some of the finest of the world's fair.

The Steger building was owned by Samuel Burnside. His loss is about $5,000, which is fully insured. Steger's loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured. The Daniel building was owned by Mrs. Daniel, and the loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured.

The fire on the east side of the Steger's building consumed a large portion of the building owned by Mrs. Dortha Daniel. The upper floors were used as a dwelling, while the ground floor was divided into two rooms, one as a barber-shop, kept by Mrs. Dunkle's husband, and the other as a store, kept by William E. Martin, a paper-hanger. The latter carried a valuable stock of paper, including some of the finest of the world's fair.

The Steger building was owned by Samuel Burnside. His loss is about $5,000, which is fully insured. Steger's loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured. The Daniel building was owned by Mrs. Daniel, and the loss is about $10,000, which is also fully insured.

The fire on the